Where Demosthenes with his lantern searched in vain for an honest man, the faculty acts as guiding lights to us in our search for knowledge. And as the Sixth Form leaves the school, the limelight falls on each who shows his worth to the school and to himself. Some follow lights down little-trodden paths finding in activities what others find in the spotlight of athletic contests.

Thus, the 1966 Pillar has selected Lights, distinguishing and guiding, as the theme.

In Memoriam

Salisbury and its friends were saddened by the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Priestman in September. She and Mr. Priestman have always been close to the students on our hilltop. Although not well known to us, she was appreciated for her personal services in managing the laundry. Mrs. Priestman will be remembered by all who knew her as one who sacrificed her time for others.

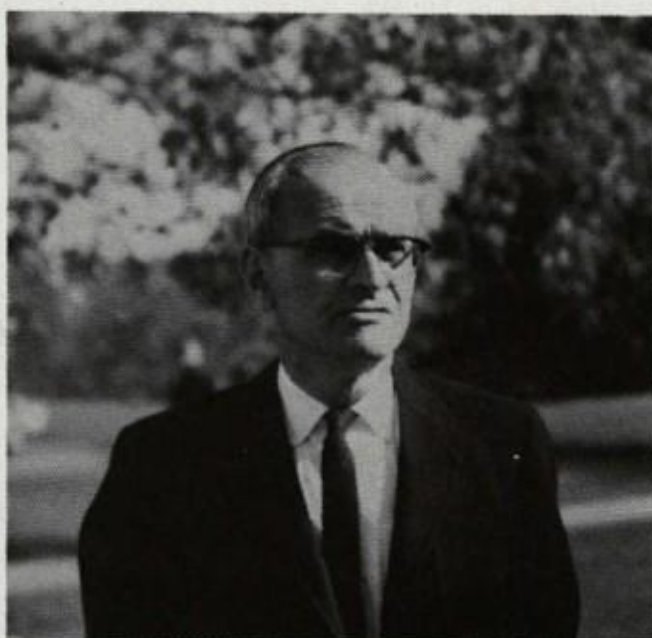

JOSEPH SARTORI

There is always one person in a school community who is forever hard-working and good-natured. This man, through his own labor and singular cheerfulness, has encouraged us during our years at Sarum. We could always depend on you, Joseph Sartori, to be pleasant under any circumstances. Therefore, for your diligent work in the gymnasium, for your personal friendliness, we, the Senior Class dedicate the 1966 Pillar to you.

Class History

Third Form

The class of 1966 first appeared on campus back in the fall of 1962, in the form of forty-seven third formers. Upon our arrival we were greeted by Pete Rogers, Joe Boyce, Johnny Callahan, and Ted Proxmire, who, the previous year had enjoyed the third form so much they decided to try it again. The school seemed very large as we attempted to orient ourselves that first week. But we soon got in the swing of things and learned certain school traditions, such as watering the flowers on the tables, buying tickets to the Saturday night movies, and making speeches at the new boy banquet.

As the fall term rolled along we began to make new friends and become familiar with the faculty and with each other.

We remember Mr. Semler, who was always bubbling over with good cheer. Mr. Semler, however, will remember his nice car . . . all covered with shaving cream.

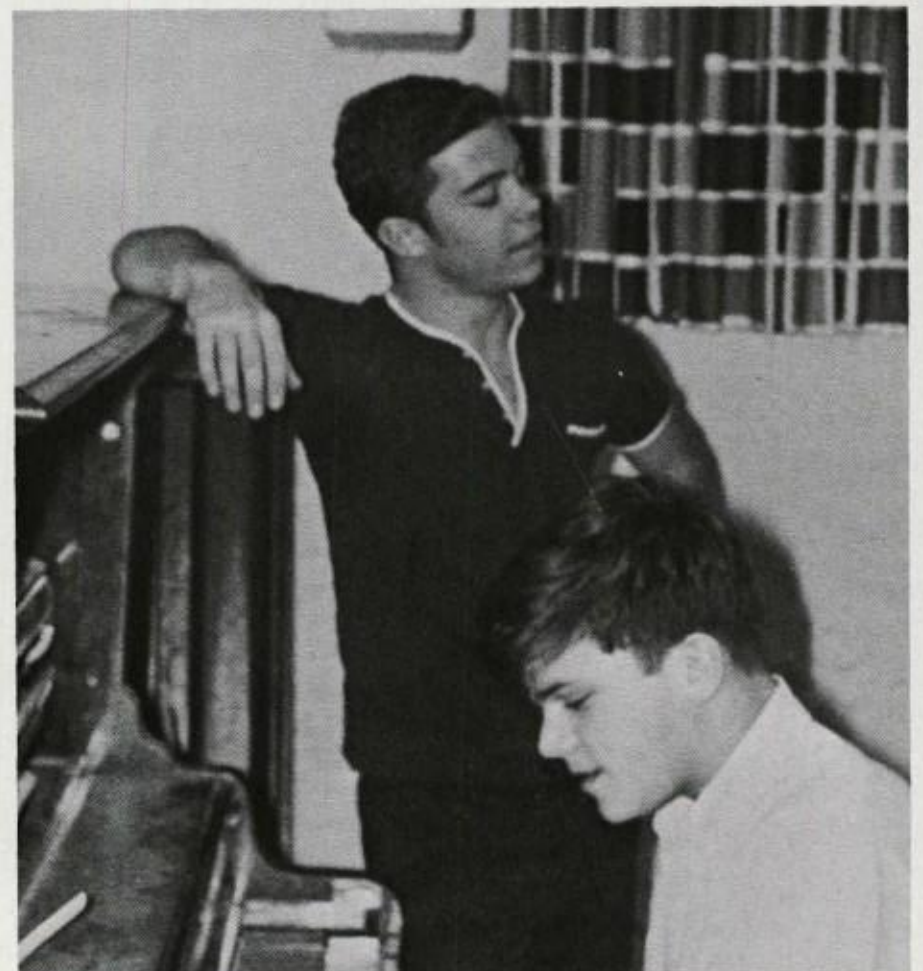

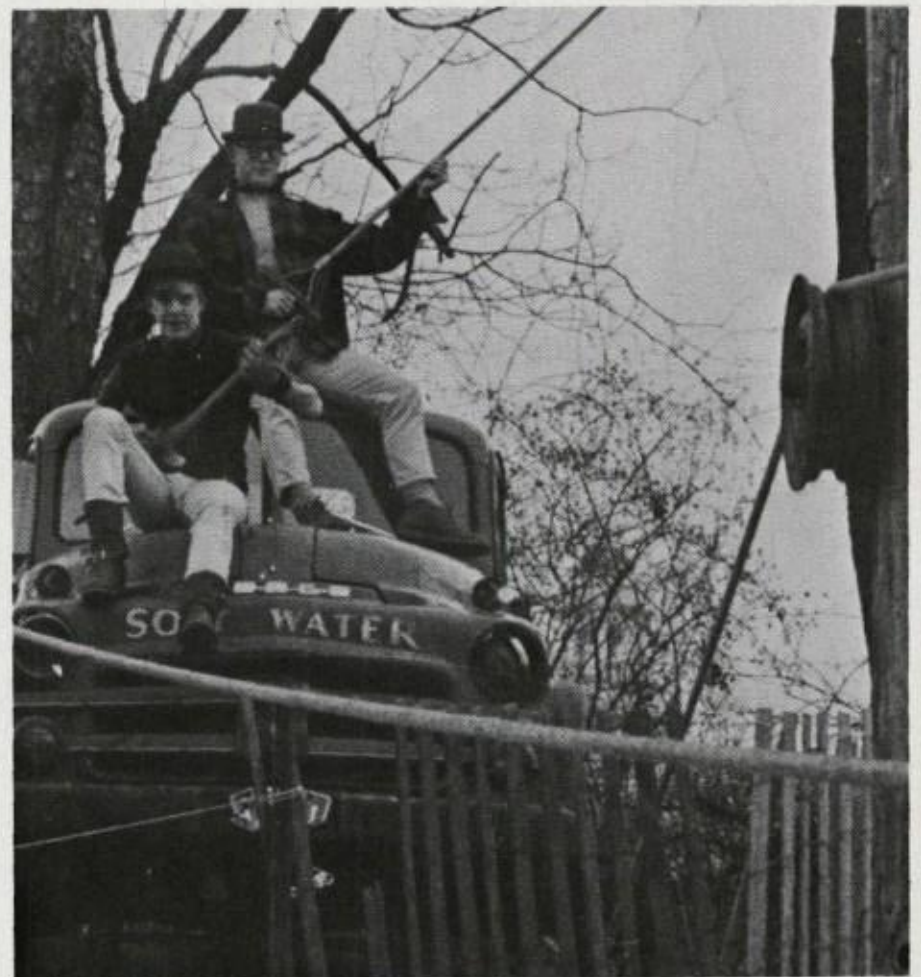

We remember Mr. Calhoun, Rob's brother, who was never hesitant about venting his verbal wrath upon us.

Most of all we remember Mr. Fowle. Many a Monday morning history class we recall him shuffling in (with his nice shoes) groaning, "I have a touch of the flu.". Equally meaningful were his Spanish classes. We did not exactly master the language, but we did learn a few words not to be found in a Spanish dictionary.

As the year progressed our form became molded together and took on a unified character. We were quick to establish ourselves as one of the more rowdy third forms.

The North Dormiees effectively staved off an attack by the entire junior class. It was easily accomplished with George Hill and Brad manning the fire extinguishers at the top of the stairs, while Opp clobbered the charging juniors over the head with wet mops as they ly hammering on the pipes at odd hours of the night. Ferdy kept us laughing that year and amazed his roommate, Billy Cronin, by sleeping in the trunk compartment above his closet.

As weenies are prone to do, we fairly took over third squad soccer and fourth squad football. Mike Zara saved us from total indistinction by making varsity soccer and earning the form's first letter.

The winter term arrived and we were constantly kept busy stealing the senior rug. The winter's snow did not daunt the Appreciation Club, (Zubic, Woof, Charlie Leach, and Bill Read) from making their daily woods wanders. Moody Al Gott made his nightly gutterwalks to pass out cigars, while the rest of the Northers threw cans at the Octet as they walked from the chapel. This was quickly halted when Mr. Langdon was hit.

Grungo Boyce managed to break his leg ascended the fire escape.

The water fights evolved into shaving cream fights, which in turn gave way to ink fights. Our terror spread far and wide. Lurker McKay dropped the year's first tray, and Huddy was the first of many in our midst to earn "ye olde five groupe."

Bew Jendel had a rough time that year primarily due to the fact that he roomed under Paddy Stern who was in the habit of pouring buckets of water through the holes in the floor upon poor Bew. Bendel earned his own recognition in two fields. He spent 79 consecutive days off dorm, and he was the only Sarumite to be kicked out four times . . . and return three! Both records still stand.

Payson Dormiees passed their time by filling the rear pit with broken bottles and by furious-that winter and he moved, filth and all, to first floor Payson with Barney Newberry. There was the incident on South with the men occupying the lower level, but that was a horse of a different color.

One snowy evening a three ton snowball mysteriously appeared on the highway off the school drive. On the following morning Mr. Langdon called a school meeting to say that the State Police were quite displeased. Apparently Mr. Langdon was also displeased because a number of us saw a great deal of the interior of Room One for the next three weeks.

It was in Room One that Mr. Unwin, newly arrived from England, made that memorable request; "I say, does anybody have a spare"?

Anyway the winter melted into spring and again we asserted ourselves in our meager way. Our ranks were depleted by the prior two terms. Henry French and Malcom "The Fish" Bash had left, and Peter Stevens had gone home to count his money.

However, Malcom's departure two weeks earlier did not stop Mr. Fay from giving him three late to breakfast slips. Mr. Fay's tenure here was also short-lived, and he left soon thereafter because of unorthodox extracurricular activities.

Staying alive during that spring term was a genuine challenge, due to the fact that it was open season on weenies. The diminutive members of our form were especially prone to weenie hunts, and Peter McLaine often found himself stuffed in a trash can, bouncing unceremoniously down a flight of stairs.

All too soon April turned to May, and May turned to June, and June brought vacation, and temporary freedom.

We had survived the rigors of the third form and looked forward to the fourth form and another year on the hill top.

Fourth Forum

Our entrance into the fourth form raised us above our former status of weenies, but we were still, nevertheless, in the lower school.

We noticed about twenty changes in our ranks as we got down to work. Crazy Kurt Beatty, Fat Jack Whittimore, Ferdy Mabon, and the duo of McLaine and Hill were no longer in our midst. In exchange Mr. Langdon presented us with an Ugly Head, a Burro, a Good Dog, and an Ellyness, to mention but a few. Pop-Kissel departed and we got Jay Kemmerer.

Was this a fair trade?

The Ferguson men soon initiated that hallowed institution known as the FCC, lead by the Deuces Wild themselves: the Purple Wonder, the Pear, Belly Dimos, Whizzz Boynts, and the Grunge. Small fortunes passed over the green felt as these dexterous card-sharps removed from Cyclops his last ugly nickle.

If the FCC was a zoo, it was unmistakably outclassed by Payson III, under the fearless leadership of none other than J. A. himself, John Askling; a legend in his own time. Living in his portable antique fair, Jack quickly won the Paysonites over to his side by placing his refrigerator at their disposal. At his famous tea parties, J. A. served up mouth-watering delicacies, washed down with tea.

Charlie Leachamos still holds his record of downing seventeen consecutive cups of John's brew.

During the fall term we became aware of a strange being in the form of a Thomas Mumford.

Paddy and Grunge vanguarded the anti-Mumford clique by practicing knee-dives on the lad's cranium. When a lynch mob was discovered assailing poor Mumfy, Mr. Langdon threw the boys in "four" and "five" groups. But, alas. Mr. Mumford took his leave.

Crazy Dunc and the Moon kept Mountain cottage hopping with their dramatic demonstrations of sticky fingered prowess. Nightly rides down Mr. Ulrum's pantry dumb-waiter to the kitchen proved most fruitful and supplied the cottage with six hundred fifty boxes of cereal and countless cans of vegetable soups. The Phys-Chem also needed a going over and the duo quietly lifted a variety of things, none the least of which was Duncan's phosphorus, which burst into flames one day, and smoke poured out of the windows in Mountain. Douga Dell, the Neantherdal man moved to Mountain from Ferguson due to unfavorable treatment in the latter dwelling.

The Coconut found himself in the same position, this time along with Kid Callahan and Bew Jendel. The dorm decided that Tony should acquire a taste for coconut cream pies and always retrieved a few from the pantry to bestow on Dugga, Sketter was another who could never face up to a pie.

The Mountaineers found great spirit in dousing the Bew with sub-zero alcohol from the lab every night as he returned from Room I.

After Bew got kicked out (for the last time), Dunc was content to jam Mr. Childs' TV reception.

Winter brought the new game "Stop the Snow Plow". One night the jeep got smart and whisked Melvin and Corona half way to Lakeville before they could jump off the plow.

The end of the winter term was marked by a rapid series of early morning fire drills by Mr. Childs. When lighting cheery bombs outside his door, muffling the fire alarm, and locking him in his apartment all failed, ole' John Askling put an end to the drills by instigating a violent demonstration outside J. C.'s door at six o'clock one morning.

The spring term was quiet and dull, squirt-gun fights notwithstanding. Brad enhanced his D.&B. rating by becoming the bookie for the Aquaduct gambling ring.

Finals came and went, and we took off for our respective summer waterholes and Salisbury became a memory for another summer.

Fifth Forum

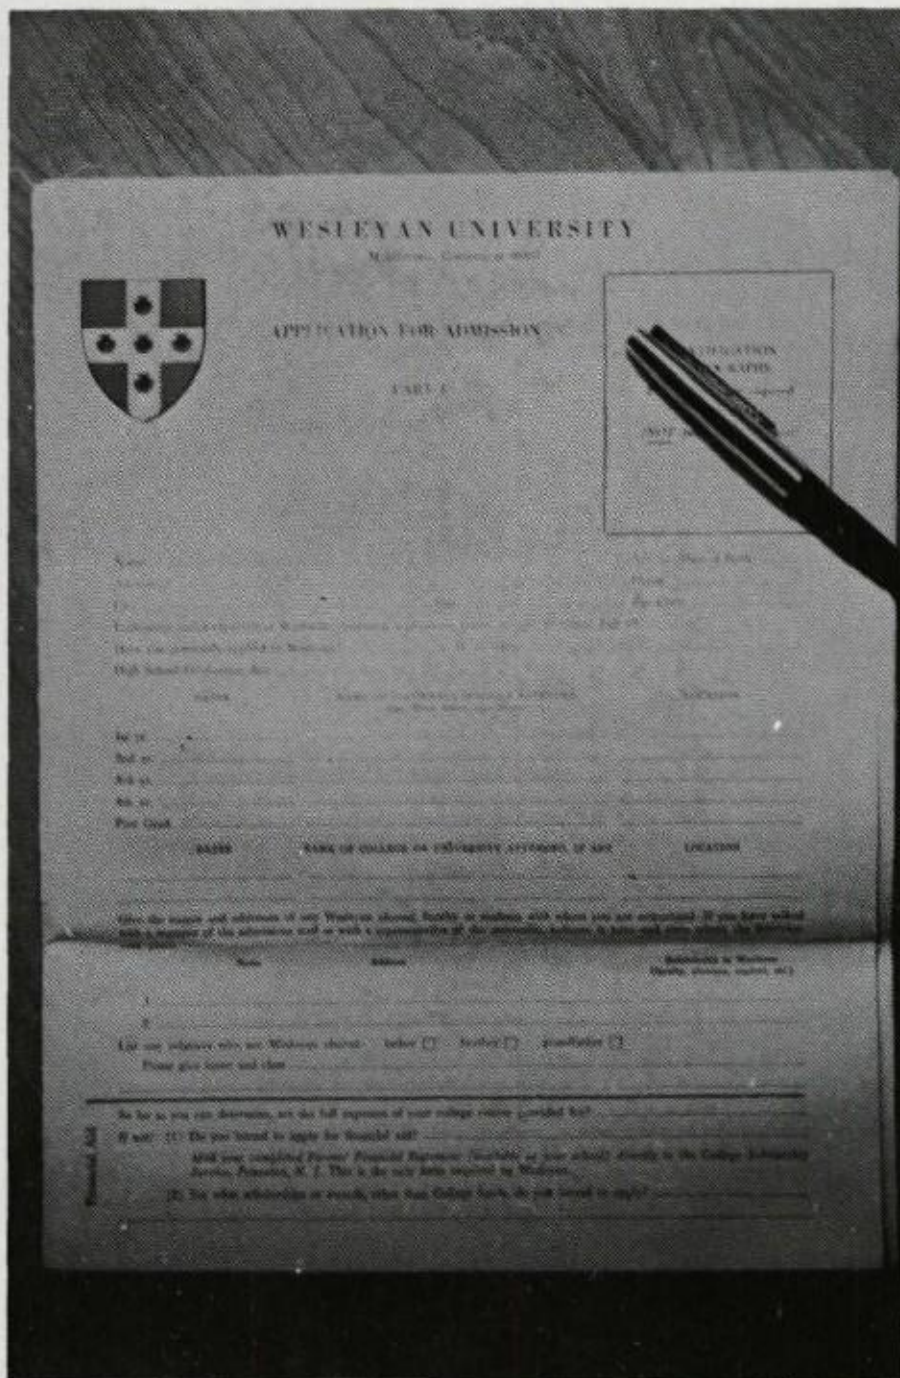

The fifth form year brought two additions to our ranks; Jolly Roger Gass and Tricky Dick Wigton. They filled out the places of Bill Read, Woffer Haneman, and Toad Samons, who, one way or the other, had fallen by the wayside.

The football and soccer seasons opened up and fourteen of us received letters.

No sooner had the fall term begun than the Hippo-Whitney-Ellis trio set out in search of a good site upon which to build their little shack in the woods. During the construction period, Jack's shop was constantly raided for saws, nails, tarpaper, and axes. Woodsman Melvin swiftly reduced a small thicket to match sticks to make room for La Cabaña. It had all the comforts of Sarum, and some of the comforts that Sarum didn't have. Needless to say it had a chimney, which is more than can be said for the pump house.

Under the watchful eye of pseudo-preppy, powerful, pugnacious Pete, the Quaile Country Club lived up to its name. When not cooking in the lower level kitchen or catching the "Fisher, this is your last chance."

"Don't think I don't know what you're doing, Calhoun."

In the meantime, over at the Main Building, by the middle of the fall term the men of Middle Main had opened up a locked bathroom to start the school's second butt-room, complete with television. Sven Fris also had a boob tube which was given quite a workout by the Mountaineers.

Across the road, down at the Little Dutch Inn, Sketter put his foot through a window while having a fight with Mel. Crazy D. again set up his soup kitchen, Prox managed to get locked in his room, and the heartless Dutch Master confiscated the Kid's drums.

It was in the spring that Mr. Langdon announced his forthcoming retirement, and we bennies in the back yard, the birdman could be found either clambering around on the roof in search of flood lights or engrossed in a stimulating conversation with the inmates of the sty next door. One Quailie, Zeke, Tyler, spent his leisure hours hanging out George Mills' window in the headmaster's house. This singular invasion didn't particularly bother the members of the Chief's dorm; they were all busy soaking up the rays on the Langdon's Riveria.

Meanwhile, back at Room C, Mr. Dartford's classroom was blessed with our presence for the first of many times that year. G. P. D. had a rough time between Hootmire's stink-bombs, the Purple Piecus, Hud's door slam-mings, Leach's Slim Jims, and Zudi's attempts to re-enter the class.

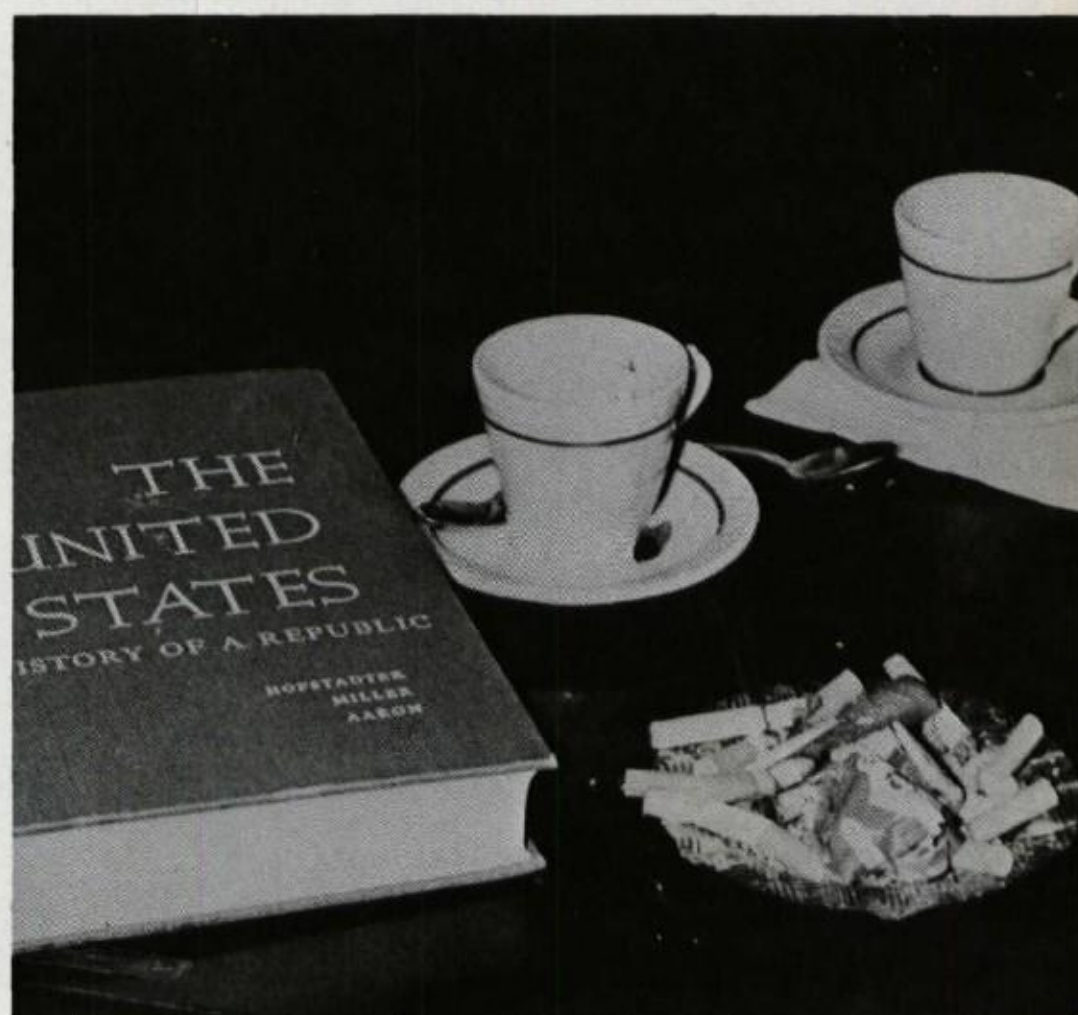

Some of Percy's famous quotes that year were:

"Waa chu doing, Calhoun?"

"Oh don't be silly, Ellis."

"Gass, will you please put on your pants!"

"R-i-i-ight, Newcomb."

had occasion to meet his successor, Mr. Ward. Suddenly our upcoming senior year took on a new importance as we were reminded of the necessity of a smooth transition, and our part in facilitating it. The graduation ceremonies were conducted by Mr. Langdon for the last time. And as we left Salisbury for our last summer vacation, we were resolved to assume our obligations and duties as seniors in the coming year.

Sixth Forum

The big day had finally arrived—we were seniors. The three years of peon-age had paid off, and now we were ready to do “the big job”.

The pre-school senior banquet, opening day and the first week flew by and we fell into the routine once again.

We once again found an addition to our ranks, this time, though, only one new member—Stone worshipping, “gytar” playing, Tipper chasing, Gordo Beall.

As seniors we dominated all activities: scholastic, extracurricular, and athletic.

Allen Schaffer worked long, hard hours to put out the Cupola. Huddy and Barney published The 1966 Pillar.

Chairing the Salisbury Debating Society, Roger Gass chalked up a good record. Freddy Dick did a great job on the Dance Committee, making the Fall Invitational Ski Lodge a tremendous success. Thanks to Dan Johnson, As You Like It was a considerable improvement over the 1965 edition.

Needless to say, we played an important part in Salisbury's athletics. Number ten, Billy Cronin, quarterbacked the Sarum Redmen to another winning season.

A somewhat unorthodox extracurricular group, the “4-S,” held nightly swing fests, until Mr. Gardner chanced by one evening and disbanded them. The Lloyd Thaxton Sarum Beavers, led by Waycon Whiz, gathered daily in the Butt-room to watch their idol.

Injun Mike Zara decided his special talents were needed elsewhere and became the first of the class of '66 to fall prey to the opposite sex.

Sports in the winter term did surprisingly well. The Hockey Team, led by Freddy Dick, was first in the league for the second consecutive year. Wrestling had quite a good season, with two boys placing in the states. Basketball, captained by Paul Ruisi, didn't quite make it, although pushing hard all the time.

Mr. Dartford's classes were enlightening as usual. “In Mr. Carter's class,” David Whitney stated in the spring term, “there's always the decision to be made: ‘Should I go to sleep or stay awake and watch the fun?’”

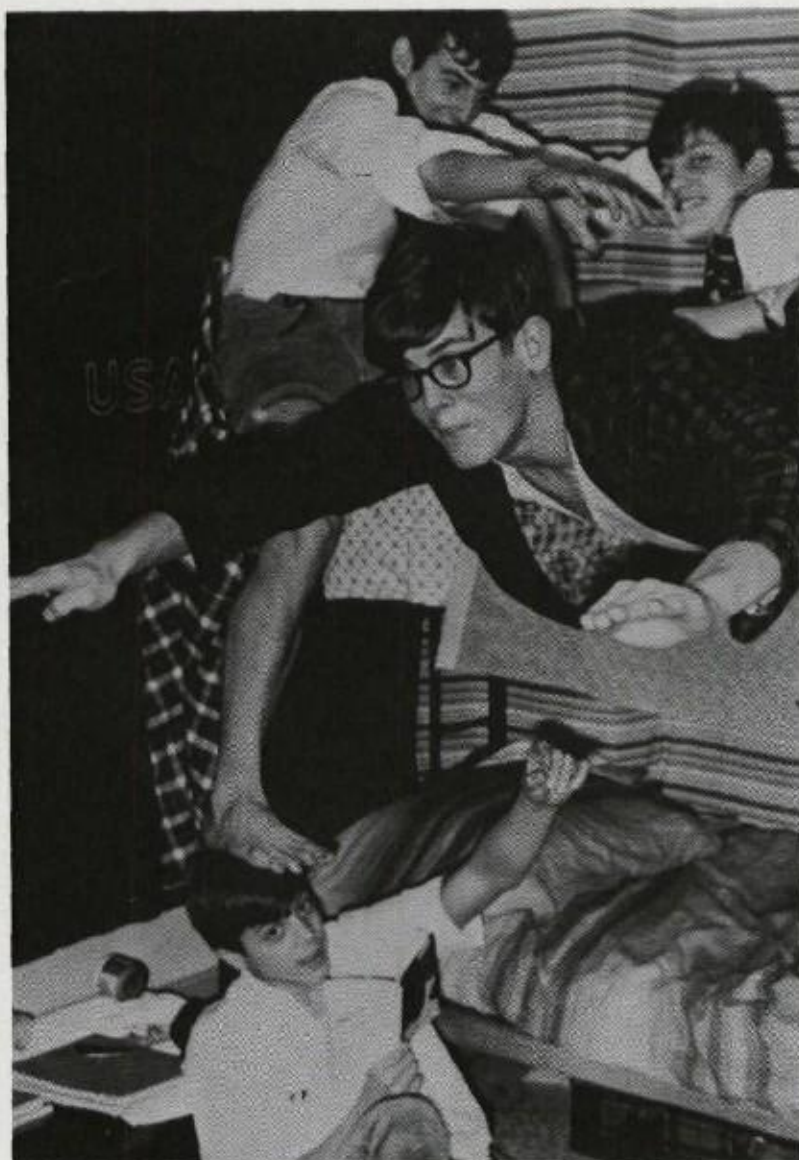

In the spring, Commodore Tremaine led the crew through a well-fought season. And, as usual, Mr. Reid put out a professional tennis team, captained by Bill Young.

Finals approached and our four years at Salisbury began to close. There was a standard joke circulating in the fall term that instead of the Octet singing Auld Lang Syne, we should get the Animals to sing “We Got to Get Out of This Place.”

The fall of '65 opened with a light but spirited football squad taking to the practice field. A new offense was being introduced by Coaches Gardner and Smith, and work was needed to coordinate quarterback Cronin with ends Dick, Kemmerer and Ross. As the year progressed the offense turned out to be the fastest moving and highest scoring in pre-school football.

Practice opened with the team in good spirits and competition for several positions added to the winning spirit. Co-captains Cronin and Stern throughout the year kept the team in shape and held spirits high even after two opening losses. This year's team was small on the line but made up for this in desire and speed. Showing poise and the desire to win Sarum came back to win their last four games. The team adopted the slogan of "HEADS UP."

The Big Red opened the season against Berkshire and the hopes were high for an undefeated season.

A large Homecoming Day saw Sarum defeated 26-16 by a heavier Berkshire squad. The new offense worked well and Salisbury scored first, as was the case several times this year, but the heavier Berkshire squad dominated the game after the third period. Big Red led 16-12 at the end of the third period but the defense could not hold the determined Berkshire offense.

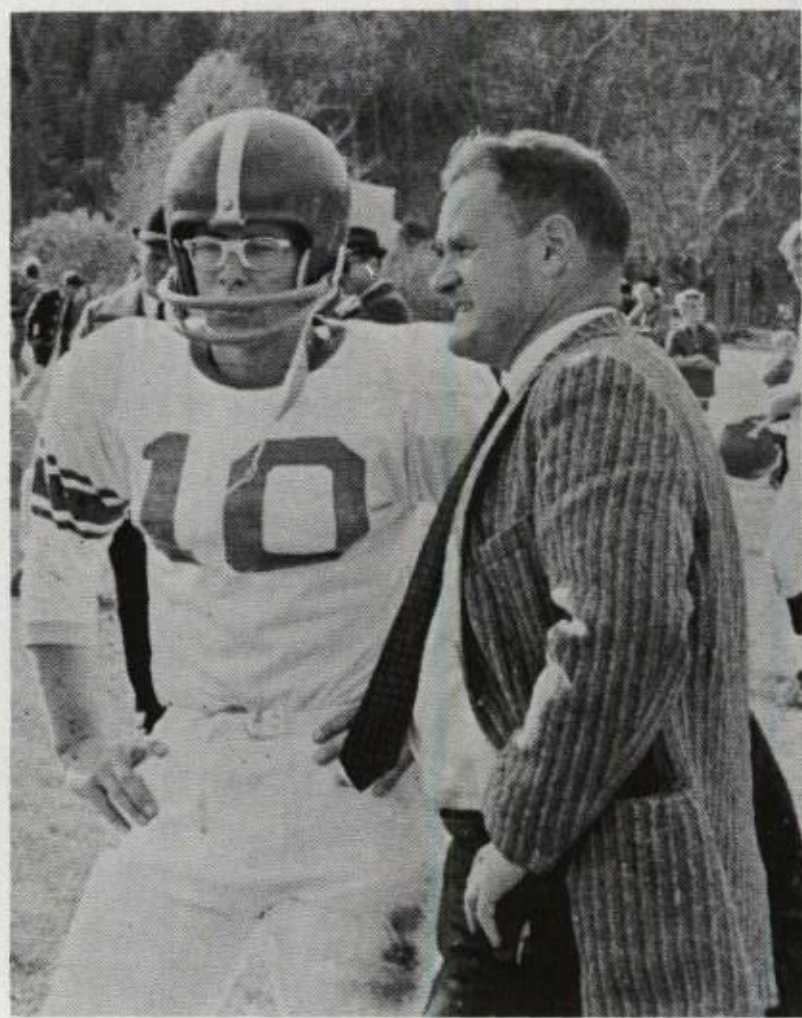

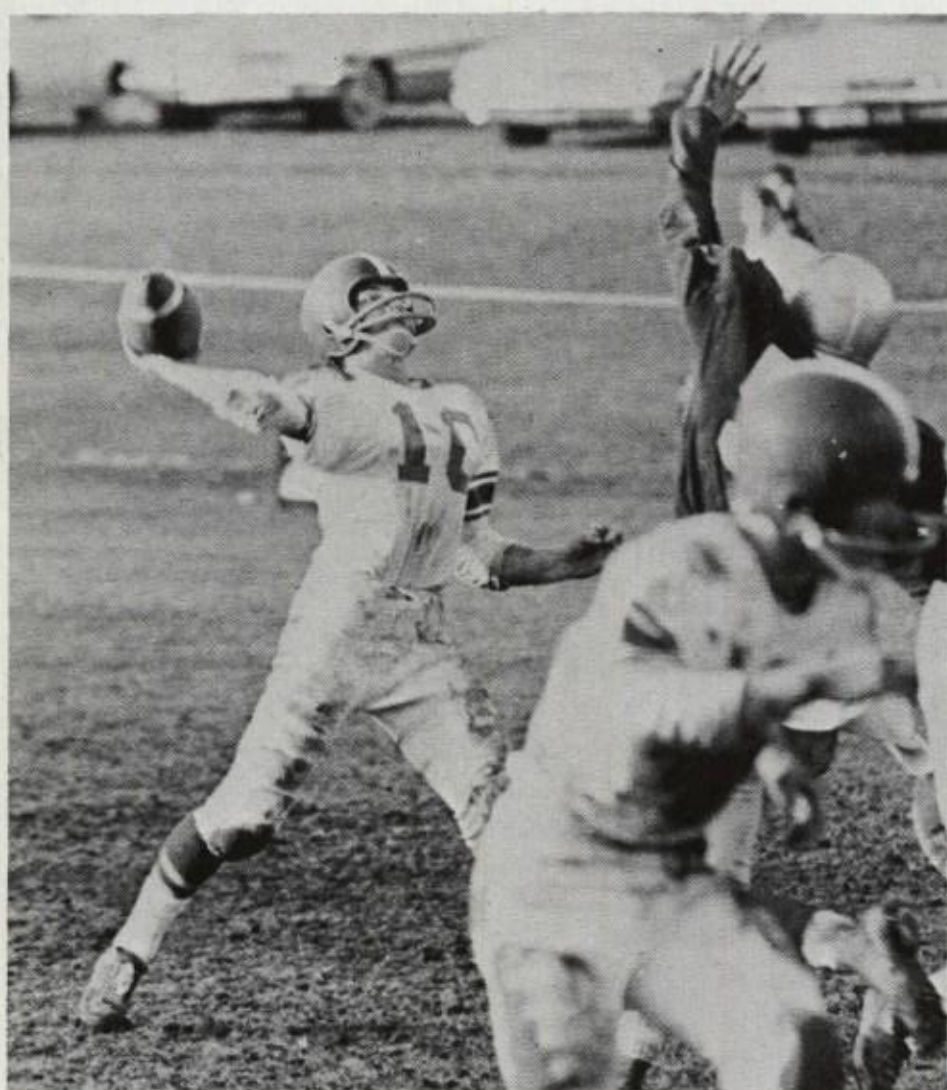

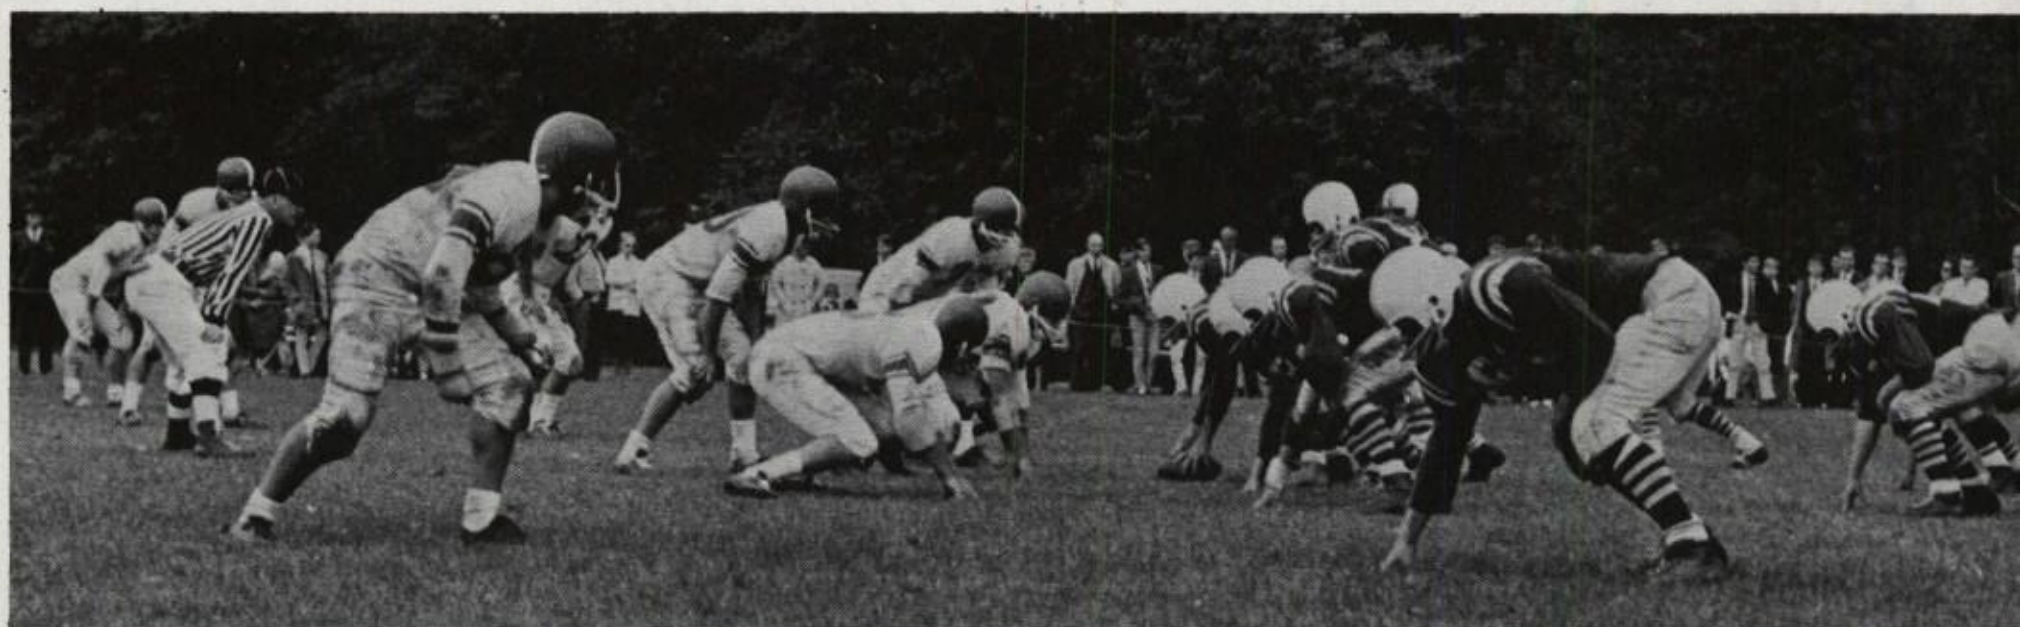

The next Saturday Sarum faced the Westminster single wing. Although Salisbury scored first, Westminster came back to score on the kick-off return. From then on Westminster never gave up the lead. The final score was 42-12.

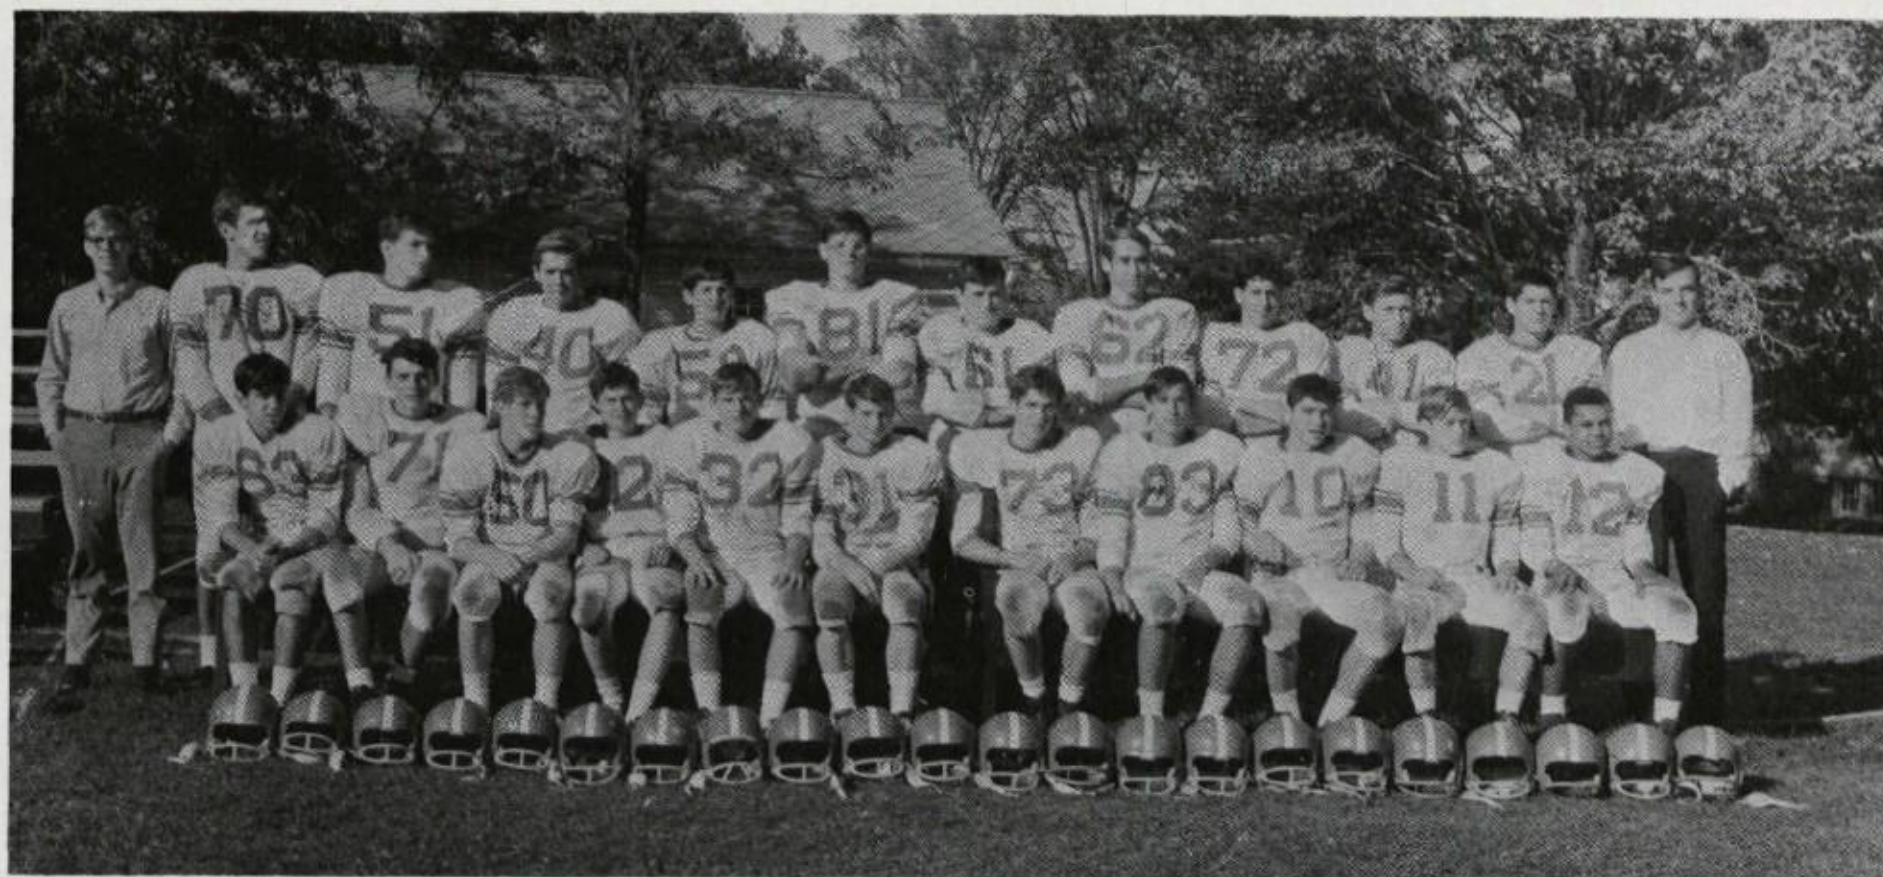

After two disappointing losses, the Big Red finally realized their potential as a team and came back to have a winning season.

This year's Varsity team did a great job in having a 4-2-0 season after losing their first two games. Coaches Gardner and Smith were instrumental in this feat. Next year a good season is hoped for but the team will miss Pat Stern, Bill Cronin, Joe Boyce, Pete Rogers, and Jay Kemmerer.

* On coming back to school in the fall, candidates for Salisbury's 1965 Varsity Soccer Team were met by a new and talented coach, Mr. Peter Kuhn.

The first few weeks were ones of hard work, and many a sore muscle. After the kinks were worked out and the team narrowed down, they looked forward to a scrimmage with Kent. The scrimmage proved to be very valuable, and although we lost 5-3, Mr. Kuhn saw which players should play various positions. Thus we had the privilege of playing a much better team and holding our own against them.

With a few days of shifting around, the team was set. Captain Zara headed the attack at center forward. The insides were Findley and Fisher, while the wings were the able toes of Young and Kleeman. Outside halfbacks were Regnier and Freeland. At center halfback, Sarum had one of the best in the business in Campbell, who broke up many an opposing line and was the start of many a Red goal. The strength of the Salisbury defense lay in the right fullback, Leach who could do almost everything and more. Bard Hubbard, the left fullback, landed many a goal kick on the skillful heads of our apt forwards. In the goal was Sprague, who had an outstanding year. The substitutes were:

line Field, Paxon, Dickey, and von Hemert, and on defense Hicks, Cooper, Dobson, and Danser. In the goal Alexandre backed up for Sprague.

The first game of the year was with a strong Hotchkiss team. Sarum played a very hard game but lost 2-0. The next game was with a talented Trinity Frosh team. The college boys were far superior, but due to a good Salisbury fourth period, they could only salvage a 4-2 win. Although we scored first against Marvelwood, we were plagued with penalty shots and lost 4-1.

After losing to Westminster, Lenox, and Berkshire, we finally exploded to beat Webutuck High School 7-1. In the closing minutes of the Canterbury game, Carlos Leach floated a long shot over the outstretched hands of the Canterbury goalie for the winning score. This gave us our third victory.

The team developed throughout the season playing their best in the last game against Millbrook. The opposition was determined to continue their undefeated season and beat Salisbury in front of their Dance Weekend crowd. With the score 2-1 in favor of Millbrook six minutes before the half, Sprague, the goalie, broke his shoulder defending against a high center. Second-stringer Alexandre came in and played magnificently. Teaming up with Leach, Hubbard and Campbell, Alexandre held Millbrook scoreless for the second half and two overtime periods. Captain Zara ended a fine career at Salisbury by tying the score in the third period. Thus ended the game and the season.

With eight experienced men returning and good potential from the J.V., the team can look forward to a successful season next year.

THE SEASON

This year's wrestling team, enchanced with nine returning lettermen, had its best season yet, as they compiled an impressive 8-2 record. Charlie Miller and Jonathan Barres, both first year grapplers, gifted with natural strength and speed, held down the first two weight classes. Mike Barnini, returning to the mat at 121, once again had a 5-4 record; but through his fighting efforts, managed to be seeded seventh in the Conn. Tournament. Terry Freeland, team captain, wrestled superbly at 127 all season, turning in an 8-2 mark, but due to an attack of flue, he had to withdraw from the State Tourney, as fourth seeding. Tom Brander returned at 133 greatly improved, but a few bad breaks kept "Buddha" out of the States. Jim Pedler and Jeff Janelli shared honors at 138. Peds posted a 5-1-1 record and a seventh seeding also. Jeff proved his worth by tying the state champion in a dual meet. The "Muscle Beach Boys," Bob Julier and Moody Al Gott, 145 and 152 respectively, wrestled very well and deserve much recognition. Bob, invaluable all season, was unable to compete in the Tourney, due to an injury sustained against a tough matman. Alan, utilizing superior strength and balance, commanded a great record and a third ranking for the States. At 160, Rob Eaton, a newcomer, maneuvered well on the mat and with a supreme effort won third in the state. Veteran Ian Ingersoll posted a very successful record, 8-2, and with determination placed fourth in the tournament. Senior Joe Boyce, at 177 started slowly due to his inexperience, but he progressed well and with this late surge he made an eighth seeding. Heavy-weight Don Schnackel, a competent master, had the only undefeated season for Sarum and was a box office attraction to all the fans. In the States, Don reached the finals; he fell victim, however, to a first period pin by Parker, who in turn, was awarded the outstanding wrestler award in the Tournament.

This season was by far the most victorious and indicative of what Salisbury wrestling has become. Under the capable guidance of Coach Mead and the leadership of Captain Freeland, the team can look ahead to an even more profitable season next year.

THE SEASON

"League Champs Again!"

For the second consecutive year, the Salisbury Varsity Hockey Team captured the Connatic League Championship. In doing so the Ruddmen completed their schedule with a 12-3 overall record and 5-1 in league competition.

The season opener took place at Hotchkiss, under the lights, against South Kent. Displaying first-game jitters, the going was rough, but Sarum maintained the lead from the out set, and skated off with a 3-2 verdict. Berkshire, a week later, trounced the hilltoppers 6-3: penalties proved too costly against our well positioned opponents. On home-ice, Salisbury edged Millbrook 2-1, in a fast and furious game.

The next three games were "must" games for the Redmen and they knew it. Thrashing Westminster 5-1 and Gunnery 8-1, the Ruddmen traveled to Canterbury. Playing in the dangerously small band box, we put forth a tremendous offensive effort and were rewarded with a 7-3 triumph. A non-league victory over the Kent School followed. Playing in Kent's new arena, the Redmen clearly were superior in posting their fifth straight victory by a score of 5-3.

The league title was at stake in the following game with South Kent. On foreign ice, the Sarum sextet out-rushed and out-played their old rivals. A late goal spree led to a 6-4 triumph and the league championship for Sarum. The Alumni then came to town, and with nine players, gave the varsity a scare. Holding us even for nearly two periods, Sarum exploded for three goals and a 6-2 nod.

Running the streak to eight, Salisbury defeated Lenox 5-4 in an overtime. Captain Dick was magnificent in scoring on four different occasions. Looking back however, speed and the will to win pushed us on.

Before an appreciative Parents' Weekend crowd, Salisbury won their ninth straight, at the expense of Loomis 5-4. Fine passwork and defense proved to be the key contributing factor in this contest.

In the re-match with Hotchkiss, the Ruddmen were over-powered 3-0. The game was a scoreless tie until the third period, when it was broken by the fine team from the neighboring land.

Angry at their last defeat, the hilltoppers defeated Gunnery again, 3-2. Berkshire, however, ruined Sarum's game plan and defeated their counterparts 5-3. The Redmen seemed tired and weary from their demanding schedule.

Saving the best for last, Salisbury shut-out Millbrook 5-0 in the season's finale. Goalie Oppenheimer was at his peak, stopping many difficult shots in preserving the win.

Captain Dick, Alexandre, and Kemmerer composed the first line, and backed up by defensemen Field and Budny, accomplished most of the scoring. Schmitz, Work, and Grout were the second line, helped by Stern and Puchta, becoming stronger each game.

Next season the squad will lose three members; hardest to replace will be out excellent goal-tender, Ed Oppenheimer. Coach Rudd was greatly responsible for the development of a closely knit team. Without his guidance and patience the season would have been difficult and perhaps not have re-gained the coveted trophy.

*Denotes League Games

THE SEASON

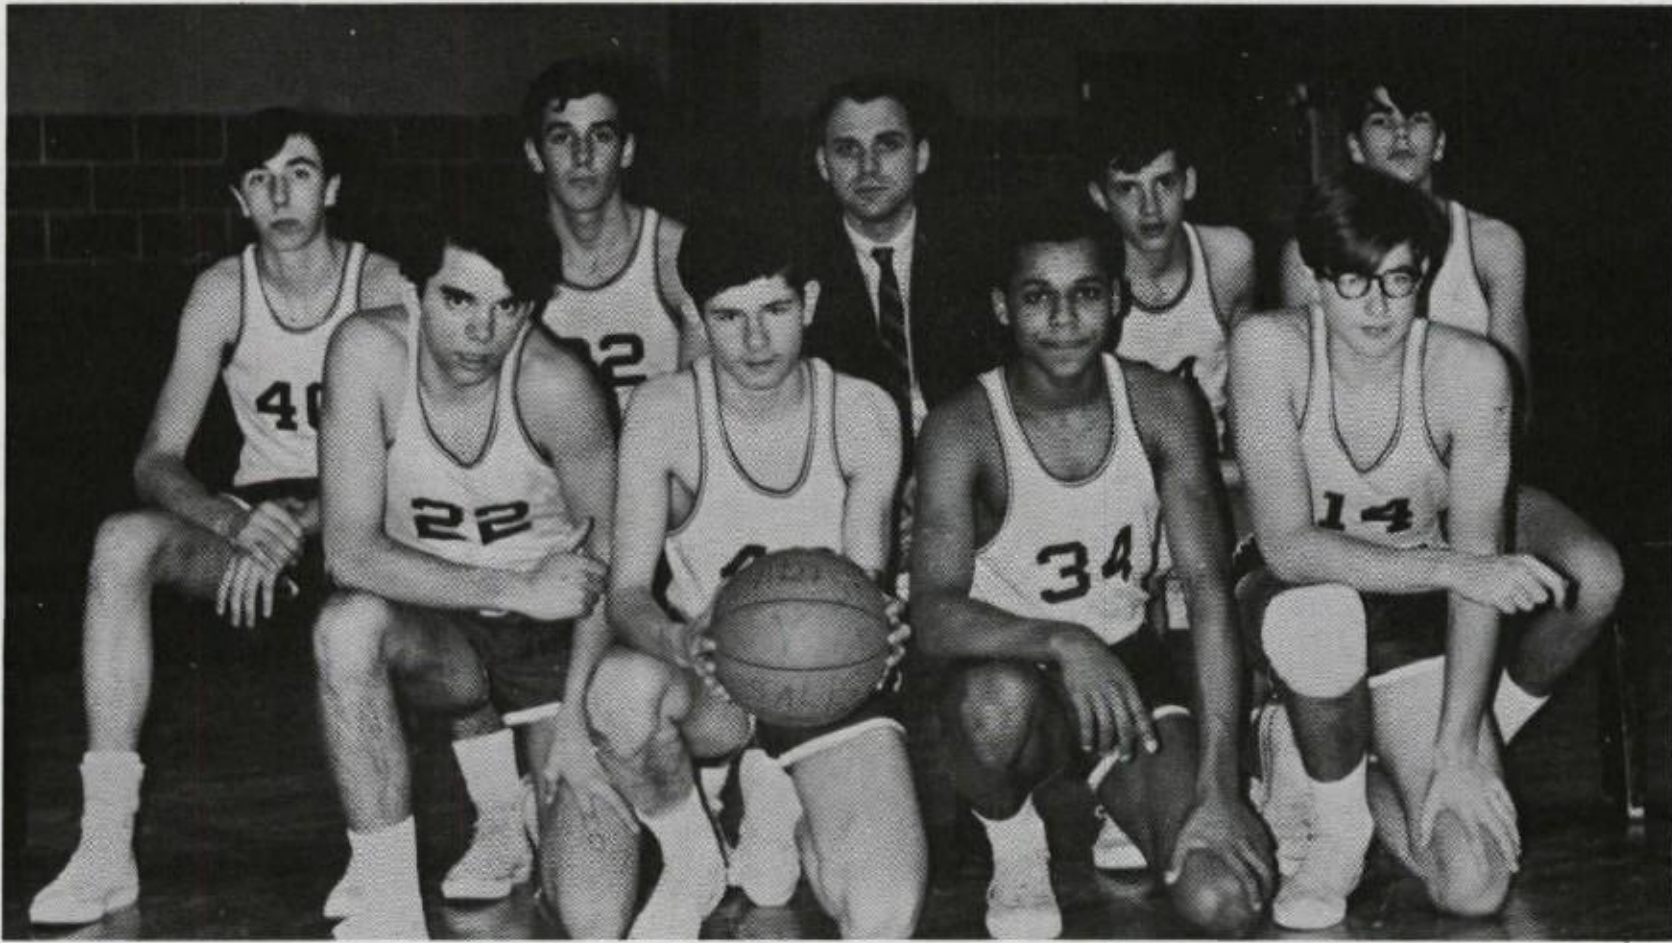

The 1965-66 Basketball Team, although it did not have an exceptional won-lost record, was involved in many close games. The team worked hard and showed good spirit throughout the season. The team had a shot at the Berkshire Hills League but finally bowed to Cranwell who won the league title. The team was particularly hurt when a Starter fouled out or was injured and the lack of depth of the team showed when the first string began to tire in the late quarters of some games.

With "Rojé" Rogers grabbing the rebounds and averaging 21 points a game, the team was helped considerably. "Soupy" Miller, Lee Spiegel, "Zoobie" Ruisi, and Mel Campbell also played extremely well throughout the season.

The season was peculiar in the respect that if twelve more points had been scored there would have been four more victories of the season. In the game against Cranwell, the second time around, Salisbury could have been the first in the league if they had won. However they lost 42-39. This defeat was very discouraging since Hilltoppers out-scored their opponents in first, second and fourth quarter, but lost the lead in the third. All in all, the season was a very exciting one, with Sarum third in league. Coach Steglitz looks forward to a good but tough season next year.

Ski Team

Bergh, Weeks, Tyler, Kleeman, Boynton, Cronin, Herm, Kleeman, Pestoni

After an absence of several years, competitive skiing returned to Salisbury. Our events this year were limited to slalom and giant slalom events.

The first meet of the season against the Hothkiss JV's was a disaster from a score point of view; 94.5-51.9, but as it was the first time that any member of the team had competed as a team member, the score was understandable. The next match saw Sarum move up to the Cranwell Junior Varsity. The score of 99.0-86.2 was somewhat more satisfying. On the first of February, the team came close, losing a giant slalom to the Berkshire Junior Varsity by the very close score of 98.5-96.0 with Bill Cronin and Brad Boynton finishing one and two. One week later, the team placed second in a triangular with the Westminster Varsity and the Taft Varsity. On February 16, Brad Boynton and Tom Kleeman led the charge and the Sarum skiers were the victors over the Marvelwood Varsity with a score of 96.8-83.5. One week later the Salisbury Skiers came out second against Millbrook, but by the very creditable score of 97.0-86.1.

The season came to a close with a disappointing loss to the Lenox JV by the score of 95.0-89.5. Captain Boynton placed first overall. Graduation is going to cause a real rebuilding job but if some help is forthcoming from this year's recreational squad and this year's spirit is in evidence next, the 1967 edition of the Salisbury Ski Team is going to surprise more than a few opponents.

It looks as though history does repeat. For the past four years Salisbury has been able to win in baseball over South Kent, Wooster, Lenox, and Millbrook. They have also beaten Kent in two of the three contests, all by one run margins, and split in games with Canterbury. In the meantime, Westminster, Gunnery and Berkshire have been beating Salisbury baseball teams regularly. Since Salisbury is in the Connatic League with Berkshire, Canterbury, Gunnery, Westminster and South Kent it is reasonable to assume that in most years we will be somewhere in the second division. Still there is no thought of withdrawing from such a league as long as we don't always finish in the cellar. In fact, a Salisbury Team won the League one year, tied for first once, finished third twice and has been last but once. That was last year when we shared the spot with South Kent. Fourth or fifth has been our spot on three occasions.

This year's Sarum nine, though not a heavy hitting club, has the potential to better last year's 6-8 record. Captain "Bill" Cronin has more than filled the catching spot and there is a capable reserve catcher in the person of "Pat" Stern. The latter has been hampered by an ankle injury but is now ready to step in if needed. Larry Puchta has pitched well in two appearances, going the full 9 innings against Kent and South Kent. He also has started the other two games but, in each, Jay Kemmerer has had to relieve when Larry's control left him. Kemmerer pitched four shut out innings against Berkshire and was the victim of some solid hits and loose support against Canterbury.

The infield, composed of "Tom" Budney at third, "Bob" Miller at short, "Jim" Ross at second and "Ed" Oppenheimer at first has shown they can do the job. This unit will be kept intact. Three lefthanded throwers, Lee Spiegel, Alan Gott, and Jay Kemmerer make up a good defensive outfield.

Coach Rudd, Oppey, and Budny on the bench

They have speed, the arms, and fielding ability.

In brief, there is nothing very wrong with our defense. All we need is base runners and base hits.

Doing their part to aid the team are base coaches "Fred" Dick and "Barnes" Newberry, "Bob" Eaton, a pitcher-outfielder, and Gordon Beall, another outfielder, give added reserve strength and may yet appear in the line up. The season is young and nothing is certain in this game of baseball.

In spite of some tough losses, I feel that we have a team that will always represent the school to the best of their ability.

FIRST AND SECOND BOATS

Through wind, snow, rain, fog, blistering Spring heat, Mr. Wilcox has been and will probably continue to play his favorite new game, "Musical Slides". Although there is much excellent material returning from last year's crew, no boat has been set as yet with the first race at Choate, the day after tomorrow.

With the advent of a new coach, many problems have set in on the Salisbury School Boat Club. An old style must be modified and new tricks must be learned; yet the crews are fast and strong so that there is no reason to expect anything other than a good season.

On the lighter side one might say that Mr. Wilcox This sport could be called "Early Morning, Late Afternoon Swim". Fortunately, no damage has been done, as two boats have capsized, spilling the oarsmen into the cold drink.

In spite of the new swimming exercise, the cox is conducting a new sport at Salisbury. crew has rowed almost two hundred miles to date. After returning early from spring vacation to row, the crews found that the ice went out early this year so they could do more serious work at home, rather than having travel to Kent. So far, the strokes have been kept low in an effort to achieve a balance between power and finesse. This should make the crews less dependant upon good water conditions to make a good showing.

The crews this year are looking for constant improvement and are aiming for Worchester. To this end we have many new exercises and drills for perfecting the form before going up to a racing stroke.

Going into the first race, the first boat is coxed by veteran Dave Woodlock, who adds much to the crew in the knowledge of the sport. The stroke is a new-comer to Varsity Rowing, Tom Lambert. His rhythm and timing are great assets. No. 3 is Jeff Dunn, whose length and strength combined with his ability to work with the stroke help set the tone. Captain Tony Tremaine holds no. 2 seat with experience and power. DeWitt Alexandre adds grace and poise to the bow.

The second boat of the moment is last year's fabulous third. There is no reason not to expect this crew to give any crew, including their own first, some trouble. They are light, smooth and fast.

The third and fourth crews are not far behind the other two with such stalwarts as Pete Rogers and George Hubbard in the third, and Alan Schaeffer and John Tyler in the fourth crew.

Good luck to all the crews—

The 1966 Tennis Team is faced with an eleven match schedule and the team has only three lettermen returning. This is the smallest number in recent years. After the first two matches against Forman and Lenox, both victories by the score of 7-2 and 8-1 respectively. The Salisbury Tennis fortunes were prospering. A string of 18 consecutive wins remain unbroken.

Captain Bill Young, Jim Field and Jon Grout are the nucleus for the 1966 team. Newcomers to the lineup are David von Hemert, Ted Davis and Duncan MacGuigan. Others who may well play this year are Bruce Lawrence, Bill Coolidge and Bill Brobston, while doubles may see Dick Wigton and Tom Kleeman.

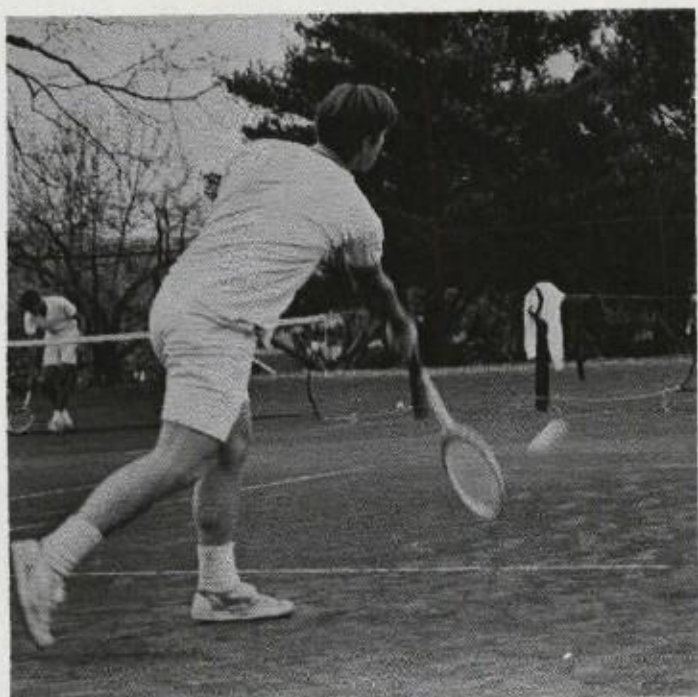

In a long schedule, Kent, Westminster, Berkshire and Canterbury are the major opponents.

First-String Varsity Exercise Squad Prepares for a Rough Day

The 1966 Varsity Exercise Squad, under the able supervision of Coaches Gardner and Smith, posted an unprecedented season; unbeaten, untied, unscored-upon. Following their daily, brief series of Mr. Gardner's exercises and their equally brief cross-country run, Sarum's Finest divided into the two club teams, The Phoenix and the Saint Petersburg Senior Citizens. Their outstanding accomplishments will serve to inspire future generations of Salisbury students.

In Memoriam

PETER KUHN

Upon returning from Christmas vacation, we were shocked to learn of the unfortunate death of Mr. Peter Kuhn. Although he had been at Salisbury for only a very short time, he was respected by all as a competent teacher, a demanding coach, a friendly and helpful advisor.
